Workshop objectives

- ✓ Connect with your intrinsic motivation and redirect your energies into developing your full potential.
- ✓ Find ways to constructively handle real and perceived obstacles on your own personal development path.

Program overview

1. Examine the greytogreen process in more depth.
2. Use case studies to uncover the mind games we create based on our basic human needs, and learn how to manage them.
3. Engage in self-discovery and work in pairs to identify new pathways to success.
4. Explore the greytogreen toolkit.
5. Apply the greytogreen methods and tools to your own personal context - with a focus on your own and your team's professional challenges.

Learning methodology

Participants work in small groups of 3 or 4.

Posters, cards, pictures, questions, and stories are used to facilitate the learning process and make the underlying concepts accessible to all participants.

Role-play is not part of greytogreen. Instead, participants explore real-life cases and scenarios, then apply what they have learnt to their own professional or personal context.

The interactive learning methodology enables participants to develop solutions that enhance their personal skills and emotional intelligence.

Simple.

greytogreen is easy to learn, quick to implement and accessible to all.

Scalable.

Start with a single team, then rapidly apply the process throughout your organization.

Sustainable.

Open up new and shared perspectives. Motivate and engage yourself and your teams to create long-term value.

The greytogreen approach is conveyed through two mutually reinforcing one-day workshops:

- greytogreen CHOICES & RESULTS – In the first workshop, participants learn and practice how to face unexpected or challenging situations more effectively.
- greytogreen PURE MOTIVATION – The second workshop focuses on more strategic and sustainable personal development themes which redirect participants' energies into developing their full potential.

Additional modules allow the approach to be tailored to the specific needs of the individual participant, team, or organization.
